

WISDOM'S CRY
Discussion Prompters
For the Women:

On Womanhood:

- Spend some time talking about the legacy that you want to leave to your daughters and granddaughters.
- How does the modern feminism movement fall short of Biblical Womanhood? What are some ways to combat its allurements to my heart?
- (For everyone)-Look at the handout from this morning. Go around the circle and identify one area where you need to grow in being a Proverbs 31 Woman. Discuss some ways that you can improve in this area.

On being a Wife:

- How do I confront my husband when he is sinning in a way that shows respect to him and honor to the Lord?
- How in the world do I find time for everything that I need to do and then have any time left over to make my husband feel special?
- How do I submit to my husband without becoming a doormat? Can you talk a bit about what Ephesians 5:22-33 looks like played out practically in your home?

On Motherhood:

- How do I stop losing it with my kids?
- Spend some time talking about your failures as mom. If you could go back and do some things differently, what would you change?
- What mistakes do you see a lot of mom's making today?

WISDOM'S CRY
Discussion Prompters
For the Men:

On Manhood/Womanhood:

- Spend some time talking about the legacy that you want to leave to your sons and grandsons.
- How does the modern feminism movement fall short of Biblical Womanhood? What are some ways that it could appeal to our wives? How can we help them resist its allurements?
- Look at the handout from this morning. Identify one area of strength for your wife. How can you grow in appreciating that quality?
- Identify one area of weakness. How can you help her grow in this quality?

On being a Husband:

- How do I confront my wife when she is sinning in a way that shows love/grace to her and honor to the Lord?
- What are some practical ways that we can serve our wives and give them time to pursue their goals, hobbies, and areas of talent?
- How do I lead my wife without becoming a dictator? Can you talk a bit about what Ephesians 5:22-33 looks like played out practically in your home?

On Fatherhood:

- How do I stop losing it with my kids?
- Spend some time talking about your failures as dad. If you could go back and do some things differently, what would you change?
- What mistakes do you see a lot of dad's making today?
